Faith Means Sacrifice

No one likes when we have to give up something or someone we love. Sacrifice means to give up or surrender something for the sake of something else. The Jews in the Old Testament were familiar with this language as they regularly had to give up the best of their flock, herd, or produce in order to be right with God. They gave up something valuable for something more valuable.

“By faith Abraham, when God tested him, offered Isaac as a sacrifice. He who had embraced the promises was about to sacrifice his one and only son, even though God had said to him, ‘It is through Isaac that your offspring will be reckoned’” (Heb. 11:17-18, NIV). Being right with God was so important to Abraham that he was willing to even sacrifice his own child to be obedient. Even though the command did not make sense with the promise, Abraham had enough faith in God to go through with it because he believed that God would find a way to give him descendants through Isaac anyway. Abraham believed that God could raise Isaac back to life in order to fulfill what was promised. What an incredible faith!

God calls us to be willing to do what is necessary too. In Luke 14 Jesus calls His followers to be willing to give up whatever is necessary in order to follow Him – relationships, desires, and possessions. Paul says in Romans 12:1 that we are to offer ourselves as living sacrifices, meaning we are to give every aspect of our lives in order to be right with God because of what He has given to us – whatever it takes. Being a person of faith means, like Abraham, being willing to do or give whatever is necessary to be right with God.
