Faith Means Recognizing Who You Belong To

It is said that "possession is nine tenths of the law." We place lots of emphasis on the things we possess and maybe too much on how to obtain more. Even from a young age we begin to understand possession. At two years old, Andrew has already begun to say of his favorite toy, "my monster truck!" when someone else touches it.

Understanding possession is important to our faith as well. "By faith Moses, when he had grown up, refused to be known as the son of Pharaoh's daughter. He chose to be mistreated along with the people of God rather than to enjoy the fleeting pleasures of sin. He regarded disgrace for the sake of Christ as of greater value than the treasures of Egypt, because he was looking ahead to his reward." (Heb. 11:24-26, NIV). Because

Moses understood who he belonged to, He was not so interested in what could have belonged to him in Pharaoh's household. He understood that belonging to God would bring far more than Pharaoh could ever give. Living by faith for Moses meant living by a different standard and identifying as part of a different people.

The same is true for us. Paul writes that as God's people we do not belong to ourselves. God has purchased us at the highest price and expects us to live by His standard as part of His people (1 Cor. 6:19-20). This is not always easy to practice because, like Moses, it may mean that we have to give up something of value in order to please God. When we do, we can be assured that like Moses, we have something of greater value to look forward to.
