I am Mine No More

"Don't tell me how to live my life" is a common saying that we have likely all heard someone say. We like to be in charge and make decisions as we see fit based on our own judgment (whether good or bad). We see this in how people live and we see it in culture today in the lack of respect for any kind of authority.

This way of thinking is toxic for Christians. We have to be careful that we do not allow this kind of thinking to become our own. The Bible tells us that we are not to be like the world around us, but that our thinking is to be completely different – renewed through what we learn in God's word. Culture loudly proclaims that our lives are our own, but God's word tells us that we are to give ourselves to God as living sacrifices (Rom. 12:1-2). The world says "my body, my choice!" God's word says that "your bodies are temples of the Holy Spirit, who is in you, whom you have received from God . . . You are not your own" (1 Cor. 6:19, NIV). When we commit to Christ, we commit to living by His standards in how we live each day.

When we have decisions to make, whose judgment do we rely on? Who are we listening to? The world should not tell us how to live our life. When we submit to Christ, He becomes the Master of how we live our lives each day.
