The Wooden Bowl

A frail, old man lived with his son, daughter-in-law, and four-year-old grandson. The old man's hands trembled, his eyesight was blurred, and his step faltered. The family ate together at the table, but the elderly grandfather's shaky hands and failing sight made eating difficult: peas rolled off his spoon onto the floor, and when he grasped the glass, milk spilled on the tablecloth.

The son and daughter-in-law became irritated with the mess. “We must do something about father,” said the son. “I’ve had enough of his spilled milk, noisy eating, and food on the floor.”

So the husband and wife set a small table in the corner. There, Grandfather ate alone while the rest of the family enjoyed dinner. Since Grandfather had broken a dish or two, his food was served in a wooden bowl.

When the family glanced his way, sometimes he would have a tear in his eye as he sat alone. Still, the only words the couple had for him were sharp admonitions when he dropped his fork or spilled food. The four-year-old watched in silence.

One evening before supper, the father noticed his son playing with wood scraps on the floor, and sweetly asked, "What are you making?" Just as sweetly, the boy responded, "Oh, I am making a little bowl for you and Mama to eat your food when I grow up."

The words struck the parents so that they were speechless. Then tears started to stream down their cheeks. Though no word was spoken, both knew what must be done. That evening they took Grandfather's hand and gently led him back to the family table. For the remainder of his days he ate every meal with the family. And for some reason, neither husband nor wife seemed to care when a fork dropped, food spilled, or tablecloth soiled.

time check of $2,000 to them back in Spring. We are still giving a monthly donation to them as well, as one of the mission works we support, but they still could use our help. If you are able to help out, please consider asking for a change can to fill. You will find the change cans on the table with communion supplies. Randy Schow, director of MSCH, will be adjusting his schedule and picking up change cans sometime in October.
