Christ is Our Life

A common saying today from people when things are going well is “I’m living my best life.” I have seen this on social media and heard people talk about it particularly in connection with fun or entertaining things they are involved in. But what does it really mean for someone to “live their best life?”

The Bible speaks to where and how we find the best life we can live. Jesus states that He came so that His people could have life, “and have it abundantly” (Jn. 10:10). Paul states that Christ “is our life” (Col. 3:4). Outside of Jesus there is only death, because there is no escape from sin and its consequences. Jesus came with the purpose of giving us the best life we could possibly have – one in which there is hope of eternal life with Him. (cont.)

Everyone desires for their life to be as good as it can be, but a truly good life is found specifically and exclusively in Jesus Christ. When we follow Him we have the abundant life and the resulting joy that seems so elusive in our world today. Let's "live our best life" by choosing to follow Jesus and be filled with the joy He brings.

As the Lewis family prepares to vacate the camp premises on December 1, the DBCC board is asking if you or anyone you know would be interested in either of the following:

2. applying to become the new caretakers.

Please contact Gene McCaul for more information.
